MERCHANT PRIZES WILL BE DECIDED BY POPULAR VOTE

Blanks Are Being Distributed

Regarding Windows

BULLETIN

Five new attractions will be found on the midway at the Fall Festival today. It was announced this morning. The concession booths will arrive early this afternoon.

Blanks are being distributed today so that persons attending the Antioch Fall Festival may have an opportunity to vote upon the window displays at the various business houses.

Now that everyone knows who won the prizes for the best floats, the next question is—who have the most attractive, the most original, and the best all around window displays?

One of the displays which has caused a great deal of comment is that of Mieke Depper's bakery. A sign at one side reads: "Fall Festival Visitors, Welcome to Antioch." There are gold satin draperies and the floor covering is of the same material. At either side of the window are large baskets of flowers, each basket containing zinnias, asters, gladioli, and Japanese lilies. Two unusually beautiful wedding cakes are placed toward the center of the window. Each cake consists of four tiers with a miniature bride and bridegroom on the top tier, standing under a wedding bell which encircled with a wreath of orange blossoms. The prize cakes for the parade are on display, also. A large platter contains roast chicken, roast meats, and a ham—all "dressed up" for the festival. Trays of miscellaneous baked goods are well placed.

Oh! Boy—!

Maybe bakeries have a wealth of material with which to work, but the Antioch bakery also has a window which has won a great deal of favorable comment. One little girl, looking in the window, rubbed her hand over her stomach and said:

"Oh, boy, of all the whip cream and most icing lookin' things I ever saw, that looks best."

An archway in pink and white, standing over a fancy cake, welcomes visitors to the festival.

Postoffice, Too

The Antioch cafe's windows are decorated profusely with wildflowers, high stalks of field corn and flowers are used in the show window of the Antioch Sales and Service company. The postoffice employees, not to be outdone by other business houses, washed the front window early yesterday morning and in the afternoon a large vase of flowers stood between two kewpie dolls. Fother's confectionery windows hold displays of different kinds, all trimmed up with special crepe paper decorations.

A carnival atmosphere is prevalent in the window of Nixon's candy shop. Splashes of color are offered by serpentine carelessly streaming from the ceiling, and hazy old souvenirs.

BROCKWAY IS OLDEST OF COUNTY OFFICIALS

County officers were among the guests at the meeting of the Lake County Republican Central committee at Waukegan last night, and among them was L. O. Brockway, veteran county recorder, the oldest man in the court house.

Mr. Brockway became reminiscent last evening when conversing with friends, and inquiry brought out the fact that Mr. Brockway is 73 years of age; that he has been recorder for the last 28 years and that he has been employed in the Lake county court house for 35 years. Brockway's entry into politics was in 1888 when he first ran for office, being defeated by 81 votes for superintendent of schools.

Mr. Brockway's advice is sought by younger politicians and many have been guided to success by his counsel. He ought to know who's who in the ranks of both the Republicans and Democrats. He does.

PARAMOUNT ISSUES ARE INVOLVED IN CAMPAIGN, MAX PRYSBORSKI STATES

Louis L. Emmerson Is To Visit Lake County on October 15.

That there are many paramount issues involved in the present campaign, and that the election will be won by individual work in the precinct, is the opinion voiced by Max Prysborski, chairman of the Lake County Republican Central committee, at a meeting of that body held last night in the circuit court room at Waukegan.

Reports indicated that Lake county Republicans are becoming well organized. The chairman brought the information that Lake county is to receive no financial assistance from the state committee or the national committee. The executive committee, now consisting of five members, is to be increased to ten, and each precinct committeeman in the county has been authorized to appoint a committeewoman to assist during the campaign.

Will Establish Headquarters

Permanent headquarters for the use of committeemen and other campaign workers will be established in Waukegan within the next few days, the committee reported.

Mrs. Claire C. Edwards, who managed Ruth Hanna McCormick's campaign in this county last April with such success, has been chosen to head the women's committee. Dan

Favors Hoover

Governor Adam McMullen, of Nebraska, farm leader, has joined the Hoover-Curtis ranks. "Mr. Hoover is the nominee of the party that believes in the protective tariff. Governor Smith is the nominee of the party that always opposes it. Mr. Hoover views the agricultural question as the main question," he said.

THEY'RE BEST

Judges Chose Winners After Viewing Parade of Fall Festival.

Prizes of $25, $15, and $10 and fancy cakes from Depper's bakery were awarded persons who entered the best floats in the Fall Festival parade yesterday afternoon. S. M. Wallace won first prize; the senior class of Antioch high school won second prize, and the Woman's club, third prize.

Judges were H. R. Adams, Superintendent of Schools W. C. Petty, and Richard Lyons, Republican candidate for representative from the eighth district.

Short will present the features of the campaign from the labor standpoint, and Calvin Trowbridge, of Lake Forest, will teach the doctrine of Republicanism to the younger voters of the county, according to the committee's plan. The persons selected to head the three groups met with unanimous approval at the meeting.

"Get out the votes," was the echo of the meeting, when Lee McDonough, candidate for representative, declared county republicans exercised their right that only 50 per cent of Lake right of franchise at the polls at the election two years ago, and Judge Edwards stated that congressmen had been elected by only 17 per cent of voters.

Praises Stratton

Lake county is very fortunate in the campaign, Judge Edwards stated, from the fact that William J. Stratton is candidate for the second highest office in the state, that of secretary of state, and that Lake county has three of the assembly candidates, two for representatives and the senatorial candidate.

Other speakers were Richard Lyons and Lee McDonough, representative candidates, Calvin Trowbridge, Don Short, Mrs. Edwards, and Secretary R. W. Churchill.

State Candidates Here October 15
Secretary Louis L. Emmerson, candidate for governor, and other state candidates will visit Lake county October 15, according to word received by Chairman Prysborski. After making the rounds of the county during the day there will be a big night meeting at the armory in Waukegan.

CERMAK GIVES TALK TO FESTIVAL GROUP OF 1,500 PERSONS

Democratic Night Is Observed At Antioch Fall Fair.

Stressing his stand on the prohibition question, Anton J. Cermak, Democratic nominee for the office of United States senator, addressed fifteen hundred persons last night at the Antioch Fall Festival. Mr. Cermak, who has a summer home along Lake Catherine near this village, has lived in this vicinity for more than a quarter of a century, and has been keenly interested in community welfare and betterment. Recently he gave a carload of gravel for use on Antioch township roads.

For the last 26 years Mr. Cermak has held public office. At present he is president of the Cook county board of commissioners. In 1902, when he first was elected to office, he sat in the General Assembly. After serving four terms he was elected alderman from the ward in which he lived. Three years later, in 1912 he was chosen sheriff of Chicago, and in 1918 first was a member of the city council. In 1921 he was chosen to the board of commissioners.

Mr. Cermak traced the development of Cook county along various lines during his administration, and made a plea to the audience that he be given an opportunity to serve the United States government in the same manner that he had the smaller district.

The speaker declared that he was running on the same platform that Alfred Smith is upholding in his candidacy for the United States presidency.

"Prohibition laws don't prohibit anything except the saloon keeper from washing his window," Mr. Cermak said in explaining that he believes there are more saloons today than there were before the passage of the eighteenth amendment.

Mayor S. E. Pollock introduced Mr. Cermak.

WONDER WHOSE?

Mr. W. H. Gifford Has Been Busy Doing a Little Painting.

It's a political job—at least, that is what W. H. Gifford, Channah Lake, terms the work he did last week in painting the two flagpoles on his property.

"Just spruce 'up a bit for the campaign," he told his friends who asked why the decorations. And—what's worryin' everyone now is—whose payroll is W. H. Gifford on?

BEAUTIFUL AND SYMBOLIC FLOATS ARE ENTERED IN FESTIVAL PARADE

Elaborate Patterns Are Followed By Some Of Business Houses; Children Take Part In Procession; Interest Runs High

LARGE CROWD LINES STREETS

Hots of color—a gorgeous spectacle of ribbons and crepe paper—and displays of originality were evident in the parade which yesterday afternoon marked the opening of Antioch's first Fall Festival.

The parade far surpassed anything ever seen before on the streets of this village. Large crowds lined the streets. Exclamations of surprise and approval were uttered as the various cars and floats passed.

Leading the parade were the state and county motorcycle police, with the local officer, Frank Valenta, first. The first automobile, driven by Mrs. Homer H. Gaston, carried Mayor S. E. Pollock of Antioch. Miss Borman, carrying an arm bouquet of roses, rode in the rumble seat.

The fire truck of the village was dressed in red, white and blue for the occasion. The Greiman cake truck has special decorations, but the attraction there was the callopie. The C. E. Shultz and Son store had a Sunshlo-Biscuit truck, appropriately ornamented. The Southview Motor Sales company, featuring new Studebakers, had several cars in the parade.

Purple and white, beautifully arranged, won approval for the float of the Royal Neighbors of America.

A "covered wagon" indeed, was the float of the Wallace store. Purple and gold streamer effects were used by Mr. Wallace, and his car was a picture of grace as it moved along, apparently driverless.

UP AND DOIN'!

Various Firms Donate Foods
To Be Used At Antioch
Fall Festival.

Some persons talk about their enthusiasm and interest in a project, but others are up and doin'.

Some of the merchants who have showed their "up and doin'" spirit by donations of food should be mentioned. Mieke Depper, a newcomer in Antioch, who bought the Somerville bakery, is giving one hundred dozen doughnuts for the free lunch and besides, Mr. Depper is offering three large cakes for prizes in the parade. The Public Service company is furnishing fuel for cooking the lunch. One hundred pounds of frankfurters are being given by the Arnold Brothers Packing company, and Walter Scott, head of Scott's dairy is furnishing cream for the coffee. Two large cakes, baked by the Antioch Bakery, will be given for prizes. Names of others who have given foods will be announced later.

FESTIVAL FLASHES

Say, man, there are some attractive windows in Antioch this week. There are always attractive window displays in Antioch, but the extra effort put forth this week has made a most wonderful improvement.

The Antioch Volunteer firemen are a wonderful bunch of good fellows. Did you ever know of any public event in which the firemen did not cooperate if they were asked? Any town is fortunate to have a bunch of good fellows like the firemen. Yes, they are helping with the festival.

"There many a slip, etc." the old saying goes, and slips are common when a group is doing something for the first time. Preface to the statement that the tent intended for headquarters by the Antioch Business club did not arrive, and search is still being made for the oldest citizen who was supposed to register at the booth and receive a prize.

A camera man from a Chicago daily arrived late yesterday to take a few shots of the big doings in Antioch. All free acts were over, but the crowd lingering around the free lunch stand and the merry-go-round, assembled about the platform while Glenny and Ford obligingly staged an extra free act. The photographer's camera clicked several times and the man went away happy.

Flower Basket
A huge basket of flowers formed the truck for the Pollock greenhouse. The body of the basket was woven of green and gold, and held a profusion of flowers—graceful cosmos, colorful zinnias, and other flowers, augmented by graceful bows. The float was lovely.

Gorgeous in every detail was the float of the Antioch theatre, driven by Mr. Swanson, owner of the amusement house. Thousands of flecks of white tissue paper, delicately fringed, artistically fashioned, made the car seem to move with swanlike ease. A red and white color scheme was carried out—red chrysanthemums against backgrounds of green leaves, giving just the right amount of color to still keep the dreamy, hazy effect of the white.

Boys Are In It
Characteristic of the program which its organization carries out, Troop 61 of Boy Scouts had an attractive and original float. A pup tent was in the background, and trees, bushes, flags, and boys lying about in uniform, made a dandy miniature woodland camp.

The Wetzel Motor Sales company had 13 boys, dressed as clowns, forming a toy band, lead their procession of new cars. The boys carried letters, "Chevrolet Leads Them All." The idea was novel. Each of the new machines was decorated in various ways.

Are Patriotic
Red, white and blue were the colors chosen by those in charge of the float for Tackle's fruit market. Children in bathing suits, a small girl seated daintily under a showy parasol, in a boat, formed the float for the Antioch Boat Building Co. A rustic scene made the Woodcrest car pleasing and pretty. Children in bathing suits, a collie dog, and many bushes and trees were evident.

Civil War Veterans
Their car decorated in the national colors, two "Boys of '61", Homer Stevens and A. J. Felter rode proudly in the parade. Another veteran, Joseph Haycock, was in another machine.

Goldenrod vied with chickens for honor in the Antioch-Lake Villa Poultry association car. Announcement was made by placard on the float of the fifth annual poultry exhibition to be December 13, 14 and 15.

"Buz" is There

Scott Isn't Hurt
Injury was escaped by Walter Scott, local dairyman, when his car was in an automobile accident Wednesday night as he was returning from Hammond, Indiana, a right turn when the front of his machine was hooked by the back part of a large motor bus. One fender, the windshield, and the front bumper of Mr. Scott's car were damaged.

HintsHints of Fashions
Noticed Around
Antioch

It hasn't been so very long since a woman thought that to wear all old clothes on rainy days was the thing to do. Time was not expected to look nice. Today, however, it is as easy to look neat and attractive on rainy days as on dry days when the sun is shining brightly.

Wonder if everyone noticed the beautiful green slicker on the streets of Antioch Tuesday? The material was heavy and had the appearance of moiré ribbon. A clever white rubber gardenia was on the back of the collar. A green rubberized hat also boasted a tiny white gardenia.

The prettiest umbrella that the writer has seen for a long, long time, was carried by a woman who came to eat in an Antioch dining room. She left it—IT came back after it. It was purple, almost bordering on a rose. The handle was fashioned like a French doll. Is it any wonder the woman came back after her umbrella?

Men like up-to-date clothes as well as women, and aren't the new fall hats and caps attractive? Grays and tans are popular as always! Men are quite too conventional about some things, aren't they? Give them time—they'll learn.

Men aren't conventional about their ties. Sometimes one wishes they were more so. The new ties are very pretty, though. By a man's tie he expresses individuality.

Bed Time
TalesALL ABOUT WHAT THE LITTLE CHILDREN ARE DOING IN ANIMAL WORLD

BY V. LUDEL BODEN

Hello, boys and girls! Did you know that the animals who live along Fox lake are having a Fall Festival the same as the men and women and children of Antioch? Well, they are. A telegram which just came from the mayor of Animalland, Silver Fox, the mayor, says that the Festival is in full swing and that everyone is anxious for the big fireworks display which is planned for Saturday night.

The funniest thing imaginable happened at their festival last night and everyone laughed and laughed and laughed after it was all over. You see, there was a big dance at the Robin Crow pavilion. After the dance prizes were to be given away. Mr. Jolly Crow and Mr. Happy Robin announced, and since most of the birds had gone south most of the dancers were animals. Among those present were the newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Squirrelly-Grumpy Pig; Johnny Ape and Molly Gorilla, sweethearts; Mr. and Mrs. Softie Rabbit; Mr. and Mrs. Squirrel; Mr. and Mrs. Silver Fox; Miss Fritze Fox and her best bean, Lordly Fox, who is principal of the Animalland schools, and oh! there were so many that they can't all be named.

Well, it was way after midnight and long past the bedtime of most of the dancers, but they all stayed and danced (each dance cost a nickel) hoping to win a prize. Well, at last the bird orchestra played "Home, Sweet, Animal Home," and everyone shouted: "Who'll get the prizes?"

Cocky Rooster drew the tickets from a big box, and he announced that Johnny Ape, Mr. Rabbit, Mr. Squirrel, and Mrs. Pig held the lucky tickets. Well, the prizes, all wrapped in pretty tissue paper were awarded, and Mr. Crow and Mr. Robin watched proudly as the packages were untied. Everyone was excited. A look of dismay spread over the faces of all, especially of the two bird owners of the pavilion. For what do you suppose those prize winners found?

I'll tell you. Johnny Ape had bird seed. What on earth could he do with bird seed? Mr. Squirrel had a coat which was made especially for big animals like horses. Can you imagine the poor, tiny squirrel wearing a coat which was so big he could hardly lift it? Mrs. Pig had a box filled with tiny threads which are manufactured for birds to build nests. Mr. Rabbit had a jar of pickles, and you know, a rabbit never, never, eats pickles.

At first no one knew what to think. Some of the crows became angry, but the owners of the pavilion held into the midst of the group and Mr. Crow smilingly said:

"There's been a mistake. Some one—and I think it was one of those tricky, Hawk children—has changed packages. I have prizes which every one of you would enjoy. Wait a minute."

Johnny Ape, who always gets in a hurry quickly, yelled:

"I want my prize and I want it now."

Mr. Crow, who knows Johnny very well, smiled again and repeated that he should wait. Mr. Crow came back in a few minutes and had lovely gifts for everyone. You see, he has a store and all the things that had been ordered were packages he was to have delivered to his customers. He went to the store while the crowd waited and picked out presents for everyone in the group, with especial lucky numbers.

After the people started home, everyone laughed and laughed and as Johnny Ape left Molly Gorilla, he was in good humor again and he said:

"Well, anyway, I'm glad I didn't have bird seed for breakfast."

HOUSEWIVES STRONG FOR HOOVER

This placard is being displayed conspicuously by housewives throughout the nation. Women caught the habit of working for Mr. Hoover during the war and still retain their enthusiasm for his leadership. These signs are being distributed in large quantities by the National Women's group of the Republican party headed by Mrs. A. T. Hert.

Did You Ever Try
These Recipes?
Do, Please.

Did you women of Antioch ever try this recipe? Sweet potatoes are unusually delicious now, no matter how they are cooked, but try this way if you haven't already.

Cook the potatoes in boiling water until soft. Then mash them. Put a layer of potatoes in a buttered baking dish, then a thin layer of grated cheese, a layer of marshmallows, a layer of sweet potatoes, etc. Bake in a moderately hot oven until the marshmallows and cheese are melted and the top layer, which should be of cheese, is browned.

Something else that is delicious! Roll macaroni, wash large tomatoes, scoop out the insides, salt and pepper the macaroni and the tomato pulp and mix together. Put both in the tomato shell, sprinkle cheese and butter on top and bake until the tomato is cooked and the cheese melted and browned.

A bottled custard made of one-half cup of sugar, three cups of milk, one egg yolk, one and one-half teaspoons of vanilla, and two tablespoons of cornstarch, is delicious. The white of the egg is beaten stiff, and mixed in the custard after the latter is taken from the stove. Pour the mixture over the animal crackers just before serving. Growups will like the combination, and children will take great pleasure in having an animal hunt with their nourishing food.

Virgil's Immortal Epic

Virgil's most important poem, the "Aeneid," is a great national epic, recounting the story of the coming of Aeneas from captured Troy to Italy, where, after long wanderings, he found a new home.

FLOWERS, SHRUBS AND TREES OF RARE BEAUTY ENHANCE GARDENS AROUND ANTIOCH

Flowers, shrubs, and trees in all their grandeur—gardens which are not surpassed in this district, are located near Antioch. Gardens of which everyone should be proud are owned by Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Joyce, Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Anderson, and Mrs. Josephine Herman.

Originality is the keynote of the Joyce garden which surrounds Lilac Lodge. The home itself is of soft blue and gray, and while the same shades are carried out in the bird houses and various ornaments, a striking contrast is offered by the gay flowers which grow in formal and informal beds.

Near the house is a sun dial. Close to it is a sunken garden, composed of pretty beds of zinnias which seem to smile proudly against a broken background of evergreens. Rabbits of stone are placed among the flowers and on the lawn. Arbors, pergolas, bird houses, benches, chairs, and tables grace the garden, and offer an inviting atmosphere.

The garden proper, however, is back of the house, overlooking Fox Lake. As one stands at the top of four terraces which lead down to the water's edge, one sees a gorgeous view—trees, sky, boats far beyond, and coots playing on the lake.

Formal beds of scarlet sage stand in all their dignity on each terrace. Stately steps are guarded by stone lions. At the foot of the stairs along a pathway leading to Tunney Island are dazzling marigolds, zinnias, evergreens and shrubs. Tunney Island is an artificial creation, and named after the former boxing champion, Gene Tunney, who is a personal friend of the Joyces and who visited the island. Large wooden sailors stands as sentinels on the shore of the island, while on the garden shore are wooden soldiers.

An old apple tree has a weathered wooden bench under it, corresponding with the atmosphere which the tree lends. Large, heavy jars, incidentally placed, remind one of the Egyptian and Babylonian gardens of olden times.

All in all, the garden expresses personality. Every flower—every nook—every corner seems to beam, trying to show its place and attempting to reveal that without it, the garden would not be complete.

Variety Is Stressed

Variety of plants and the development of exceedingly large blossoms have been stressed by Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Anderson at "Andy Villa." "Andy Villa" is situated at the point of Lake Catherine and Channel Lake. Almost all kinds of flowers known to this region may be found in the Anderson garden. Especially beautiful are the showy, yet light and graceful phlox, which hold high their purple, red, and white blossoms. Zinnias bloom in cheerful profusion, and marigolds send out golden rays to passersby. Meek petunias boast rich colors.

Agricultural Notes

In 1927 in the United States 2,262 agricultural agents were employed.

Regardless of the summer price of milk, it pays to keep the dairy herd in good condition during the summer months.

Two important ways farmers are lowering the cost of production are by securing high yields and by keeping operating costs at a low figure.

Temperature of barns will remain more uniform, stock will be healthier, and the frost nuisance will be practically eliminated by good ventilation.

Careful shocking and stacking of barley is an important factor in securing good quality grain for market. The seed will be discolored and is apt to sprout if left in the stack too long.

A promising new variety of alfalfa for the Northern states is the result of a small package of seed received 18 years ago by the United States Department of Agriculture through its office of foreign plant introduction. The new variety is known as "Ladak."

Bluegrass in pastures is very dependent on a supply of nitrogen for successful growth. This supply is furnished largely by the clovers present, so it is evident that when the clover begins to fall, because of a lack of phosphorus and lime, the bluegrass also begins to fall, because of a lack of nitrogen.

Planting Winter Wheat
Sometimes Hard Problem

Winter wheat is a crop which takes three months to raise, the longest length of time of all our annual crops. There are seasonal vicissitudes and insect pests all along the way. The season may be too dry for the seed to germinate or it may be too wet to sow the crop. High winds and bare ground and low temperatures of winter are a menace—thawing and freezing may ruin the crop and rust, the green bug,essian fly, army worm and chinch bug may all take their toll. It may be sowed too early or too late. Although late sowing is preferable to excessively early sowing.

Views and Opinions

IT'S A GREAT LIFE!

It would be difficult to find a village, town or city where the residents, as a whole, are as proud of the community as are the persons who live in Antioch. In dining rooms, in the bank, on the streets, and in stores every day—especially during the summer months—persons can be heard telling strangers that "this is the hub of the lake region" and it is "ideally located" and that our stores are up-to-date and they carry everything. How many of you who are reading this have told many visitors these or similar facts?

One has a perfect right to say that this is the hub of the lake region and to comment on the scenery, and it is justifiable in every sense of the word to boast of the stores. For Antioch is fortunate in having progressive merchants who handle only the newest and best lines of goods. It isn't necessary, as it once was, for residents of this district to go to Chicago or larger cities to buy. All articles of wearing apparel, all kinds of furniture and hardware, and all kinds of repairing may be obtained here. What other town of 1600 population can boast as much? Very, very few. Hundreds of persons who used to make trips regularly to large cities now buy in Antioch. The merchants and the buyers cooperate. The spirit is noteworthy. Customers should take their hats off to the merchants—but it works the other way, too—merchants must respect the wishes of the prospective buyers. Antioch business life is great!

SEEK ILLINOIS' BEST YOUNG DAIRY FARMER

Trip To National Show In Memphis Is Offered.

Memphis, Tenn., September 12.—(Special)—A pleasant surprise awaits one of Illinois' 10,000 4-H club members. Announcement has been made here that the boy or girl who is chosen Illinois' champion dairy calf member for this year is to be given an educational prize trip with all expenses paid to the National Dairy Exposition to be held in Memphis, October 13 to 20. Donor of the prize trip is the Blue Valley Creamery Institute, Chicago.

Selection of the Illinois dairy calf club champion is left entirely in the hands of Edwin A. Pilehard, specialist in junior club work at the University of Illinois.

This is the fifth consecutive year in which the Blue Valley Institute has offered three trips to the National Dairy show to outstanding Illinois farm youngsters. The Illinois members who have won these trips in the past and who are not eligible to this year's prizes are:

1924—Thomas Patterson, Plainfield, Ark.
1925—Forrest Wesemann, Maple Park
1926—Alvin Mahrenholz, Lawrence county.

1927—Orville Plum, Walnut.

In addition to furnishing the prize trip for the Illinois club, the institute each year also awards a similar trip to the dairy calf club champion in each of the following 16 states: Arkansas, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Missouri, Minnesota, Michigan, North Dakota, Nebraska, Ohio, Oklahoma, Tennessee, South Dakota, Wisconsin and West Virginia. In all, over 75 of these trips have been awarded. In doing so, the institute feels that it is helping to encourage 4-H club work, which is doing a great deal to fit boys and girls for a more happy and prosperous farm life.

Accommodations are now being made ready on the Tri-State fair grounds here for the 4-H club boys and girls. In addition to the Blue Valley group, there will be several hundred other members of state cattle judging and demonstration teams and representatives of vocational agricultural high schools, accompanied by their state club leaders. Special opportunities are to be provided for them to see the fair, the educational and making every display, and in fact all exhibits pertaining to the dairy farm, farm and home. Many trips to points of interest in and about Memphis are being scheduled for them, and several of the civic organizations of Memphis are planning special entertainment for the youthful visitors.

Frenchman's Hard Luck

Charles Cros on April 30, 1877, deposited with the Academy of Sciences in Paris a detailed description of a device "for recording and reproducing acoustical vibrations." Cros could interest no one in his invention and had not the necessary francs to patent it. Edison was at work at the same time, and took out a preliminary patent in December, 1877.

Sugar provides 18 hundred-calorie portions per pound, and average candy about the same number. Thick slurps provide about 13½ hundred-calorie portions and jelly, jam, marmalade and rich preserves about 9 hundred-calorie portions per pound.

FESTIVAL FLASHES

faces everywhere. The smile was contagious. Never saw a frown all day long. And the kids who took part in the parade—what an event in their lives!

A stranger in our midst, one of Antioch's guests yesterday, one who has traveled extensively, remarked: "I've never visited a town where residents had a finer community spirit than in this town." Think it over.

If Dick Lyons, Republican nominee for representative, searches for votes as frantically as he sought the two parade judges yesterday there will be no doubt of his election on November 6. The trio got together just as the big parade started.

"You're kidding me," exclaimed S. M. Wallace when he was appraised late yesterday that his float had been selected for first honors in the parade. After being assured by three people that the news was not too good to be true, S. M. rushed upstairs to break the news to Mrs. Wallace. "Won't she be surprised?" he said.

All was well at the Festival early yesterday afternoon. Old friends were renewing acquaintances and proud mothers were "showing off" their children. The small boys and girls who were being "displayed" however, felt none too comfortable. But every cloud has a silver lining. It is generally agreed, and so the children found it, for all at once the merry-go-round music started. Instantaneously, there was a ripple over the crowd which has been so still. Adults did not move, but every child on the lot hastened to the place from which the music came. The kids were bored no longer.

Russell Keulman wasn't going to miss anything yesterday, so he got out to the side of the street in real professional manner during the parade and took movies.

Prizes were awarded within the Antioch high school for the best floats prepared by the different classes. The seniors, who won second in the parade proper, were awarded first prize of $4.50 and the juniors were second, and were given $1.50.

"It's a fine paper, fine paper," said A. B. Johnson when he was speaking of the Antioch News being printed daily during the Festival. "It's a good idea," he added. And Mr. Johnson's opinion carries weight since he was publisher of the paper for 20 years.

Otto Klass usually is pretty much of a live wire—and perhaps, he still is, but yesterday afternoon he wasn't even in the "also ran" list for the parade. Shortly before noon Mr. Klass and his two nephews, Max and Herman Jacobs from Kentucky, decided a float would be the proper thing to which they should turn their attentions. One of the men rushed to the printer's for signs; another hurried madly after crepe paper, while the third hunted wildly for whatever he could find. The idea which Mr. Klass had in mind was good—but the plans didn't materialize. Crepe paper was still being tacked in place when the parade went down the main drag.

Mrs. Sarah Emmons is the oldest person to enter the oldest resident contest in the Festival. There is still time to register. Mrs. Emmons is 90 years, six months, and eight days old. She was born February 17, 1838.

Glenny and Ford will put on a boxing and wrestling exhibition tomorrow night. The Chicago Daily News boys' band will play.

No old fiddlers have registered yet for the fiddler's contest. How come?

BEAUTIFUL FLOATS FEATURE FESTIVAL

parade's part in the parade. A truck, decorated in purple and white, was labeled "Miss Antioch."

Dr. F. S. Morrell of the Sheridan Road Motor Sales company, Waukegan, drove the first of the new Oldsmobiles in the procession.

A regular "skeeter" car hopped jubilantly along with "Huzz" Van Patton at the wheel advertising his wares of Texaco. The Main Garage firm chose blue and gold as an effective way to display his wares.

Lively Crowd
Plenty of noise came from the "bandwagon" of the Jolly Juniors of Antioch high school. Jazz of some heretofore undiscovered variety was played (?) as the truck was driven up and down Main street. The senior class had a symbolic float. Two groups of students were shown studying—one a class of 1828 and the other of 1928.

Dainty and clever was the flower float entered by the Woman's club. Pastel shades of rainbow colors graced the car, and surrounded a human flower garden. A picture of shy sweetness was presented.

Real Flowers and Shrubs
A mass of trees, shrubs, and flowers from the Maplehurst nursery made a beautiful float. H. P. Lowry had a gas range attractively displayed on a truck. Ira Simons was on the job with a Yellow cab.

Farmers in straw hats, portrayed by members of the Agricultural club of the high school, rode in a car adorned with tall stalks of corn.

J. C. James, realtor, believed in advertising a little for everyone, as his car was decorated with posters of the Fall Festival, and other attractions about the village. A doll on the front of the car held streamers of crepe paper which led to the windshield.

Lodge Has Car
The Rebekah lodge had an automobile bearing the colors of the organization, pink and green, in streamer lines.

Scott's Dairy truck, with its blue and cream, had a conservative and clean appearance. C. F. Richards was in charge of the International Harvester company entry.

Lester Nixon drove a lilly goat car, the head of the goat bucking right along, pulling the gayly trimmed car. Delicately fashioned flowers, used sparingly and artistically on H. R. Smith's car of the Crystal theatre showed what a pretty effect can be obtained with few decorations.

Banked With Flowers
Banked with dozens of sprays of goldenrod, the Williams Brothers' department store float was exceptionally pretty. The stove carried on the truck was displayed in a simple and pleasing manner.

Members of the Methodist Episcopal Sunday school rode on the float in costume. Flags surrounded the truck. A huge cross towered above the worshippers depicted.

The First National bank had a car entered. Flowers were used profusely.

Green and yellow arranged in a light, plume fashion, were the predominating colors of the Antioch Lumber and Coal company float. The H. R. Adams Lumber company displayed its products on a truck. The Antioch Oil company entered the parade with a Shell gasoline truck.

Many individual cars were in the procession.

Success of the parade was largely due to the efforts of L. V. Wozniak, chairman of the parade committee.

Agricultural Hints

Soy beans should be cut for hay just when the leaves begin to turn yellow.

Sweet clover should be grazed so closely that stock eat the new, tender shoots all the time, or it will get tough.

One of the essentials of a good silo is an impervious wall, one which will exclude air and retain the moisture in the silage.

If certain interests can afford to spend a million dollars to oppose co-operative marketing, what must it be worth to the farmers?

A few rods of woven wire fencing will make a good insurance policy for the garden, protecting it against the vigorous attacks of poultry and live stock.

Clover, alfalfa, soy beans and all other legumes add nitrogen to the soil, while timothy and other similar roughage crops remove large quantities of this element from the soil. The latter tear down the soil; the former build it up.

were devoured at the free lunch stand on the carnival grounds.

Tickets obtained from your merchant so that a vote can be made for the best window displays, are to be deposited in the large automobile tent on the Festival lot.

The high school agricultural department is in charge of the exhibits of home grown products and of the pet show.

Final Draft of Model Traffic Ordinance Is Received by Mayor

Uniformity in Traffic Laws Is Aim of Illinois Auto Club.

A copy of the final draft of the Model Municipal Traffic Ordinance as drawn up by the Hoover conference of 1927 and revised, after a year's work, by a special committee of experts representing various conflicting interests, was received today by Mayor S. E. Pollock from the Automobile Club of Illinois with the suggestion that the measure be introduced in the city council at as early date as possible.

"Adoption of the measure, it is believed will mark an important step toward uniformity in traffic laws and will prevent confusion, especially on the part of thousands of visiting motorists," declared S. Mayer, president of the club.

The ordinance has been prepared with a view to strict impartiality, favoring neither pedestrian, motorists nor common carriers. In the opinion of American's foremost safety engineer, its adoption and observance will go far toward the prevention of street and highway accidents and will ameliorate the unsatisfactory traffic conditions that prevail in almost every city.

The proposed ordinance has the endorsement of such bodies as the American Motorists Chamber of Commerce, the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters, automobile clubs throughout the country, bus and taxicab owners, as well as the electric and steam railroad interests.

It is designed to deal merely with such local problems as police authority in the direction and control of traffic, the erection of necessary signs and signals, parking regulations, special rules for the protection of pedestrians and certain driving rules necessary for city streets.

The ordinance is designed, moreover, to supplement and conform to the uniform vehicle code as approved by the national street and highway safety conference, and which covers such basic regulations as those pertaining to speed limits, reckless driving, vehicle equipment, licensing and registration. It is suggested, also, that the measure be made supplementary to state vehicle law provisions, with none of which it comes in conflict.

In its final form, the proposed ordinance is said to be so reasonable and to make such an appeal to the American sense of fair play as to be virtually self-enforcing and to find ready acceptance by all except the extremist.

Under its provisions, traffic officials are authorized to mark crosswalks, traffic lanes and safety zones. Pedestrian, as well as vehicular traffic, is regulated. "Serpentine" driving is outlawed, and street-car passengers are protected under regulations requiring an automobile overtaking a car, to draw up and wait, except at safety zones, while passengers are getting on or off.

Other regulations do away with such nuisances as all-night parking, parking a car offered for sale or bearing a display advertising sign.

Old and Popular Song

The song "The Old Oaken Bucket" was written by Samuel Woodworth in 1817, and first published under the title "The Bucket." The air is an adaptation by Frederick Smith of Klammer's music, which was composed for Moore's "Annie's Daughter."

Banking Terms

Call money is borrowed money, secured by collateral, which must be returned on the demand, or call, of the lender of the money. The borrower of the money, too, may at any time pay the loan and take up the collateral.

Little six-year-old Helen was skating one afternoon when Jerry, the neighbor's dog, came running out and insisted on being directly in front of her on the walk. She tried to skate around him, but no use—he was always just where she wanted to skate. Finally losing patience, she stopped and, looking intently at Jerry, exclaimed: "Go away, Jerry—you give me delirium tremens."

BASEBALL NOTES

An afternoon nap is great for anyone but the guy who is covering second base.

The races looked like any battle during the World war. The Yanks were always closing somebody.

Walter Mall's homer in the first half of the Coast league was the second four-bagger in 14 years of ball playing.

Nemo Liebel, manager of Columbus in the American association, is a former member of the Chicago White Sox.

Rookie outfielder George Klein, with the Phils, slugged out two homers the first day he played in the majors.

Pittsburgh, they say, is developing into a threat in the National league. That shows what a little smoke on the ball will do.

There are six big universities in Japan whose baseball teams meet every year to decide the baseball championship of the country.

After playing right field for the Cincinnati Reds since May 1924, Curtis Walker was benched by Manager Hendricks because of weak batting.

"Red" Rollins, a Red Sox infielder, has been sent to the Fort Worth club of the Texas league on option. He had been used mostly as a pinch hitter.

Ed Walsh, Sr., White Sox coach, is credited with the longest fingie hit on record. He fuzgeed a ball 419 feet 1/2 inches at Comiskey park in September, 1911.

Babe Adams, former major league baseball pitcher, won the Democratic nomination for sheriff of Harrison county, Missouri, in a recent primary election.

lery, novelties, and toys. It looks sure enough like a fair were going on.

Baskets Are Heralds
Red predominates in the window of the National Tea company. An American flag is also in evidence. The Atlantic and Pacific concern, too, has entered into the spirit of the Festival and special displays of food products may be seen.

The Williams Brothers department store windows are attractive. Tall baskets of zinnias in front of one window seem to herald the display of household furnishings. The other window shows seasonable goods—hunting coats, shells, guns, and oars.

Dalton, Jacey articles are being showed by the Maude Sabin shoppe, against a background of green paper. An artificial, tiny lake with a sand beach, and tall grasses are suggestive of hunting, even though one does not see the picture of the kindly old hunter and his dog in the back ground. This display is in King's window.

Red, White and Blue

Green seems to be a favorite in color in Antioch, and still another merchant chose it for displaying his goods. The C. E. Shultis and Son firm used green to line the window of its store.

The five department members used plenty of hunting for one side of its building, and on the other side one may see red, white, and blue paper streamers. A flag is draped over the top.

Next door, the Jess Howling Sandwich shop has used hunting, also. Webb's Racket store also has chosen the national colors for displaying novelties.

Like an open book, is the manner in which the orchid, rose, orange, and green wide ribbons of crepe paper have been arranged in the north window of the Chicago Footwear company. In the other window a large bow has ribbons of brown, orange, blue and rose leading from the top of the display room to the floor.

Orchid and pink are the chosen colors in Haves' drug store window where perfumes and toilet accessories are showed. Many colors, brown, yellow, green, and blue form the background for the rubber goods.

Although no crepe paper or silks were used by Otto Klass, the Antioch Fruit and Produce company, the Antioch Packing company, Tronson's, Had's Place, Art Debbie, the Wisconsin Butter store, Chase Webb, D. H. Sabin, T. A. Powles and Son, and S. M. Walcott, the displays were all unusually fancy and showed that special effort had been put forth to help with the carnival.

H. P. Lowry is using crepe paper and placards to add to the beauty of his display window. Gold cloth with a sparkling glint attracted many to the Kentman Jewelry company window—especially after the lights were lighted.

SEMI-ANNUAL GOLF
